

During Chinese New Year 2020, people travel less and have spent more time staying home and avoided going to crowded places.

Classes have been suspended, and we should wear a mask when going out.

The novel coronavirus outbreak has emerged a public health emergency of international concern. The disease caused by the virus has spread to many countries around the world. In Hong Kong, there are multiple confirmed cases.

What is novel coronavirus?

Current knowledge indicates that the novel coronavirus can be transmitted via respiratory droplets, or spread from person-to-person. The symptoms include fever, fatigue, cough and breathing difficulties. Some of the patients are severely ill.

How do you feel? Despair, anxious, fear, confused, angry, bored, worried about your working parents or nothing special...

Don't be afraid! Your parents are near you; you now have more time together and be close to each other.

Classes are suspended but learning continues. Every day, you and your family members can learn more about public hygiene together.

We are brave virus fighters: wear a mask, keep washing hands and maintain personal and household hygiene.

Home cleaning: Parents and their kids can clean the toys and bathrooms together. They can turn home cleaning into a parent-child activity.

How should you handle the used face mask to ensure personal hygiene?

Exercise more, such as running, hiking and playing sports. The whole family can take part in outdoor activities and breathe in fresh air.

Will you become a brave virus fighter?
What can you do?

About the author: Marina @ Brianstorm

Marina has more than a decade of experience in corporate and non-profit public relations. She is currently studying for a doctorate in education. No matter how many ups and downs, she looks forward to growing-up together with her daughter. The spread of the new virus has weighted heavily on Marina's mind, and she wanted to have learn about public hygiene with kids through this picture book.

This book would not have been possible without the support of Brianstorm Content Solutions and design and illustration by Karen Aruba & Ki.

We hope everyone stay positive. Tomorrow will be a better day!
